Reflections

On The Lake

Nearly all executives and others assisting in work of Pony League and Little League recreation have no children participating in the game, and yet have given more than 240 hours of their time, to say nothing of energy, that the happiness of your boys may be realized. Parents oculd do as much by attending the games and cheering them on.

After all, the first duty to the children is to make them happy; if you have not made them so, you have wronged them. Resolve, then to help you children live as children—encourage them in their play, that they may learn to live as men and women. Be there in the bleachers and root for your boy at the next game.

Citizen staff correspondent Bob Turner was elected by the journalism department at Grossmont High to edit the feature (page 3) page of Foothills Echo, the school newspaper, for the next year. We are proud of Bob's advancement and feel that we have been honored also.

That success is only a relative thing, may be true, but to keep alive the spark of enthusiasm in a chosen field is the key to achievement. Bob has that spark.

S-s-sh

Its on the "QT", but members of the Optimists Club are planning a gala Fund-raising night Saturday, June 9.

Come one, come all to the War Memorial Building for snacks and surprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Neal and family are settled at their new residence on Julian Avenue.

That producers of the festival of the pacific pageant are frantically using questionable methods in a vain attempt to "save face" in their squander ing $100,000 in tax money on a Los Angeles story, is evidenced in the daily press report that "For the first time, San Diego is mentioned in commercial song" in a composition by a Los Angeles musician.

That is a misleading statement used to cover-up their shortcomings. Renan Prevost composer of the music for the San Diego operetta "Serafina" has a hit song in that show about "San Diego, A Heaven On Earth"

Mr. R Prevost composed the music and lyrics three years ago, and didn't find it difficult to tell of San Diego's beauty.

Local VFW Delegales To Convention

Preparations are under way here by members of Sable Post Auxiliary, 2275, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for particiapation in the state convention to be held in San Diego June 28-30.

Mms. Burgess and Ramsey were elected delegates here recently to the conclave with Mms. Howell and Ricks alternates.

Polo To Open Season Here

Lakeside sport enthusiasts will be treated to a colorful event tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Rodeo grounds, when equestriennes of Lakeside meet a team of La Jolla lovelies in a polo match.

Under the instruction of Jim Scott, the following girls will be seen in action, Betty Gilliespie, Jean Hall, Ann Richie, Judy Puhn, Jan Nuttall, Pat Edwards, Lynn Powers and Barbara Simpson.

Use of the rodeo grounds for the match was donated by the new management under the direction of Monte Hall.

President Accepts S. D. Membership

Prsident Eisenhower sent his per letter accepting life membership in the San Diego County Junior Golf Association. The JGA award was in recognition of Ike's ser vices to golf, and the "inspiring example" he has set for youth "as a good sportsman in the greater game of life."

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

April 21, 1956

Mr. John W. Brown
Chairman, San Diego County
Junior Golf Association
2308 Lincoln Avenue
San Diego 4, California

Dear Mr. Brown:

I am more than complimented by the action of the members of the San Diego County Junior Golf Association in voting me your first JGA Life Membership, and want to thank you most sincerely for the golf card indicative of membership that Congressman Wilson brought to the White House for me. It is a pleasure to be affiliated in this way with a group dedicated to such admirable objectives, and I wish you every success in your work.

Won't you please accept for yourself, and convey to your members, my deep appreciation of your thought of me?

Sincerely,

Dwight D. Eisenhower

Lodge To Organize Tonight

A new Masonic Lodge for the Free Masons residing in and around this area will be instituted tonight at eight o'clock in Santa Maria Lodge hall at Ramona.

Lakeside members will meet in the El Cajon Valley Lodge Temple until a suitable building can be provided at Lakeside.

L. Harold Anderson, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the State of California will install the following Officers at the first meeting.-

Byron J. Conrad will be first Master. Robert W. Staite, senior warden; Edwin G. Gimble, junior warden; Vivian Ritter, senior deacon; Wyatt H. Dunlay, junior deacon; Robert Lyons, treasurer; Ernest A. Hester, secretary; George A. Allan, chaplain; Kenneth E. Stevens, marshal; Guy G. Fears, senior stewart; James C. Kidwell, junior steward; and Irvin G. Bole, tiler.

Teen Rodeo July Event At Arena

A schedule of equestrian events tailored for the youth of San Diego County is in the making by Monte Hall, manager of the Lakeside Rodeo grounds.

The initial program is the training of a group of local girls in the technique of polo playing. Concessions will be operated to secure uniforms for the girls.

Among several innovations under consideration is a dirt speedway for auto racing. The first big event for the Summer season will be a teen rodeo in July featuring a number of top young horsemen and equestrennes.

HUNTING COURSE TO OPEN BY SPORTSMEN'S CLUB SOON

The Sportmen's Club will sponsor a hunter safety courrse under the instruction of Roy Lee Cooper, Richard Isom, Roy Price and Wallace Cate.

The course and examinations are edited by the California Fish and Game Commission.

Starting with the annual holiday parade on July 4, Coronado will present a series of summer activities designed to entertain visitors from al parts of the nation.

Mrs. George Miller will be in charge of the salesroom. Residents may have articles picked up by telephoning HI 3-1543.

Ocean Holds Answer To Water Problem =Cost Free

Taxpayers are asked to approve 110 millions and one-half in bond issues, plus more than two millions in salary increases already passed by city and county authorities.

That the proposition W on the June ballot is a questionable issue is evidenced by statements made in the daily press by those who now favor passage of the issue.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., commenting on the Colorado River situation stated in part, "On April 22, 1956 . . . "The forecast for the Colorado River, which is the main source of supply, IS BELOW NORMAL."

Fred A. Heilbron, chairman of San Diego County Water Authority, said in the local press, September 25, 1953 on the completion of the second barrel of the aqueduct, "The equeduct, operating at maximum capacity, will deliver about 140 million galons of Colorado River water daily.

"This volume," he said, "will MEET THE NEEDS OF A POPULATION OF 1,200,000, in addition to those who can be served by the present locally developed water sources.

"With the completion of the second barrel of the aqueduct, the water authority area of 294.-176 acres, has AN ASSURED WATER SUPPLY FOR 15 TO 20 YEARS."

In the local press on Nov. 3, Mr. Heilbron discredited himself by the folllowing statement: ment:

"Summarizing Proposition "W" Heilbron said the measure would authorize the Metropolitan Water District to issue $0,000,000 in short term notes, with repayment to made from fees representing money which annexed areas would have paid had they been a part of the district from its establishment in 1938. These fees, he added, will total $170,-000,000 over the 30 years.

"The unprecented population increase and industrial and agricultural growth of all of Southern California served by the MWD have created an imperative need for additional Colorado River water in the immediate future. Proposition 'W' if approved will finance the completion of the Colorado River aqueduct and meet the additional water demands. Projected are new siphons and pumps, and feeder and distribtion lines."

It is an established fact that the Hoover Dam on the Colorado is filing with silt at an alarming rate, thereby reducing the amount of water to the aqueduct systems, plus the fact that the State of Arizona has suits pending against California use of the river water.

An exhaustive report by the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., on seawater conversion states that water can be taken from the ocean at a cost of $4.08 per acre foot as compared to our present cost of $50.00 per acre foot for Colorado River water. Such a plant, the report states, will cost but $1,-700,000.

Paris, France, has five such plants, why hasn't San Diego? With the sale of the salt and magnesium removed, the water would be produced cost free.

Councilman George Kerrigan did considerable campaigning in 1950 for a six and one-half million dalor bond issue to complete the once condemned Sutherland Dam, which stands completed, but can never hold its capacity of water because of the pervious condition of earth at the site.

He favored a bond issue of nine and one-half million dollars to build a pier on the bay, the cost of which was estomated three months before voting on the isue, in the daily press at three millions.

At the present time with the Mayor and council he has prepared a program of bond issues totaling 100 millions of dollars, which they hope will be voted piece-meal by the overburdened taxpayers.

He is at present spending his time—not lowering taxes, but spreading the wonders of the Feather River pipe-dream that will cost taxpayers and their descendents one billion 600 millions —with no assurance of water for San Diego.

It's A Banner Day For Father

Serve this Banner Cake to that very important man as a special highlight on Father's Day. For a really chocolate-y flavor use instant devil's food mix, adding shredded coconut to the batter for an unusual treat. Decorate the luscious chocolate frosting with additional coconut, and use small paper banners to spell out "Father" in every language.

Devil's Food Banner Cake

1 package Instant Swans Down Devil's Food Mix
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons water
2 eggs, unbeaten
½ cup finely cut Baker's Coconut

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add remaining ingredients. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy. Pour batter into two round 8-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 35 minutes. Cool cake.

Frost with your favorite chocolate or mocha frosting. Sprinkle with shredded coconut. Insert little paper name tags for father.

Don't Do This!

What not to do when you go on vacation is shown here by Model Dee Kranz: Don't post signs that reveal the house is empty. It's an invitation to burglars. A new "Check-list for Vacationers" warns that many vacationers leave such signs behind, in notices to the milkman, postman or newsboy. Instead, tell the milkman in advance to stop deliveries, ask the post office to hold your mail, and have the newspaper sent to your vacation address.

Other Do's and Don'ts prominent on the check-list include:

DO lock doors and windows—but DON'T pull down window shades for that also signals an empty house and invites trouble.

DON'T forget flashlight, first aid kit, camera and film, bottle opener, can opener, cleansing tissue, sun glasses, aspirin, and sun lotion.

DO carry "Scotch" cellophane tape in the glove compartment for such "little" jobs as wrapping sandwiches, repairing road maps, mending torn pages in children's books, and removing lint and dust from clothing. (Wrap tape around your hand, sticky side out, and pat your clothing to pick up lint and dust.)

DO turn off water and the gas hot water heater to avoid leaks that may develop—and DO pull plugs out of electric outlets to avoid short-circuits that could cause fire.

DO seal perfume and lotion bottles and insect-repellent bottles with cellophane tape to prevent spilling inside your luggage, and seal packages and cartons with tape to keep dust out.

DO make reservations in advance unless planning your trip "gypsy style." Otherwise, start looking for lodging about 4 or 5 p.m.

DO keep a running picture-story of your vacation with postcards or snapshots. Link them together with tape, to keep them in the right order, easy to show.

Summertime Is Picnic Time

A picnic is something that nothing is more fun than.

That's a statement that millions of Americans are proving right at this time. Summertime is outdoor eating time—a time to enjoy good food which has the added sauce of sunshine and fresh air.

Probably everyone has wondered where that peculiar word "picnic" came from. The American Bakers Association has run down its history and comes up with half an explanation.

"Pic" apparently originated from the French word "piquer," meaning "to pick,"—as in pick and choose, no doubt, from the variety of foods available at most picnics. But history has not recorded who slapped the "nic" on the end of the pic.

Picnics started hundreds of years ago. Originally these were group affairs, where each family brought foods and everyone helped himself to what he wanted.

Just when picnics began to be an important part of American living no one knows, but if it were classed as one of the outdoor sports, attendance each year would rank above baseball, football or basketball and maybe all of them combined.

But who cares about history when it comes to grilling hamburgers or hot dogs or bacon or what have you, over a bed of glowing coals—eating the finished product on special buns or enriched white bread?

And think of all the hundreds of ways to prepare picnic lunches, all the vast variety of good things to eat which can be used. Plus the relishes, sauces, garnishes, pickles, olives, jams, jellies—plus everything you can think of which adds to the family pleasure.

Then to get down to science—the family will get a great deal of nourishment out of any picnic meal which includes meat, cheese, peanut butter or other sandwich ingredients; enriched white bread; milk or soft drinks or whatever your favorite beverage may be and dessert.

And as a suggestion for dessert, this is cherry pie time, and bakers are featuring luscious, juicy cherry pie. A good-sized chunk of ice cream on top of the pie will add still more luster to a perfect day. A most excellent end to a day of fun in the open.

Yes indeed, a picnic is something that nothing is more fun than!

"So this is the thanks I get for surprising you with a new tractor on your birthday."

Rev. Robert H. Harper

Golden Text: Exodus 20: 14.

ONE of the commandments is against adultery. Strictly speaking adultery is a violation of marriage vows. But the word is also used to refer to illicit sexual relations between all persons whatsoever.

In referring to the commandment against adultery, Jesus discussed the source of moral uncleanness. He pointed to the adultery that is in the heart of a man who looks upon a woman to lust after her. And the sin which may be to a man as the apple of the eye should be plucked out and cast away.

Jesus turned to the matter of divorce and laid down the proposition that only an innocent person in the matter of adultery shall have the right to marry another. And Jesus declared that whosoever shall put away his wife except for the cause of fornication makes her an adulteress. Whosoever may marry her will commit adultery.

The passage from Mark gives the answer to Jesus to the scribes and Pharisees concerning divorce. He passed beyond the law of Moses back to the remote day when God made man and woman one flesh, and he declared "What God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."—Surely the stamp of antiquity and the hand of God are against moral impurity in sexual relations. Let the church stand firmly against the laxity of the present time.

Court Decision Protects Women Buyers Against Fake Perfume Sales

The United States District Court in Cook County, Illinois, has handed down a decision that now offers the consumer public and the perfume industry the opportunity to save millions of dollars heretofore lost annually in fake and imitation perfumes.

In an unprecedented case tried before the Honorable J. Sam Perry in the Federal court, one of the nation's leading perfume producers, Parfums Evyan, Inc., famed for its "White Shoulders" perfume, won the momentous decision against a Chicago firm known as Yvonne, Inc. The latter was ordered to desist marketing an inferior product and capitalizing on Evyan's famous established trade-marks.

In the suit, Harold Shapiro, of Miami, and his associates were charged with introducing a perfume called "White Showers," and naming the company "Yvonne." In addition, it was alleged, that in paid-space advertising Yvonne used the name "Most Precious," another of Evyan's famous perfumes. The lettering and bottles were also charged to be misleading in simlarity.

Judge Perry ruled that "Yvonne" was hereby restrained from using the names "White Showers," "Yvonne," or "Most Precious," or any other words confusingly similar to the trademarks "White Shoulders," "Most Precious," or "Evyan."

The Judge further ruled "Yvonne" to destroy all stickers, circulars, advertising materials, labels, cartons, bottles, and other matter, and additionally to submit proof of such destruction.

Evyan emphasizes that "this court decision is a warning to those who are in the fake perfume business as well as to those who may foolishly consider embarking on such a misventure.

"This court ruling also stands as a beacon light to consumers guiding them towards buying only well-advertised and well-known perfumes in reputable stores!"

AUTO CLUB'S TRAFFIC TIP

WATCH OUT for BICYCLISTS

Even though traffic laws apply to bicyclists, the Automobile Club of Southern California reminds motorists to be particularly cautious when a young bicyclist is nearby. For safety's sake, drivers should give the bicyclists the benefit of the doubt in any questionable situation.

In fact, when the wise motorist sees a bicyclist, he should almost consider him a pedestrian.

SUNDOWN ON THE PACIFIC SHORE

A novel about the Great West

BY RENAN PREVOST

Copyright by Renan Prevost, May 1955 All rights reserved

PREFACE

All thru the West there are Ghost Towns. Mostly in the region of the gold mines, of the wild, reckless days of 1849 and after. There are ruins of buildings and etc., which have a story, of the days,- of glory and easy wealth for some men: and dissappointment and tragic passing for other men.

About every city there are happenings of the past which are not always recorded: some men leave great names for their accomplishments, and land marks are named after them such as Parks, Streets and Schools. Also there are men, the workers who have "done the work" who are usually forgotten, with their passing on from this world. This story is about these men of great courage, supreme courage. Many of them arrived here without funds, and so gainful employment was necessary and that was work- hard work. Work not in line with their skill in a trade or profession.

Ghost towns have their story. So stories exist about buildings, water works, factories, railroads and other endeavors concerned with the earning of a livehood. These stories become interesting, because they portray a life during the days of the past,almost forgotten. Great buildings or public utilities are usually known by the name of the man or corporation which caused the construction. Very seldom is any credit given to an architect, or the men who actually did the work. These were the men-"the brains" who were responsible for the erection of the structure or etc. And so this novel is about those "brains" and how they came West and what their life was like.

There are certain things effecting the economic welfare of men, which cause them to migrate. Generally it is promise of better living conditions or opportunities of easy attainment of wealth, thru land booms, new agricultural crops such as rare fruits, a better livable climate,as an aid to regain health;or as in the case of the colonization of this great country- an escape from persecution or oppression.

Men have been traveling to the West for generations, so we travel West with our characters, starting in 1880.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

Any similarity of names or places is merely co-incidental. All characters, dates and places are imaginary. The author has endeavored to use names of his own invention. If by chance the name of a living, or deceased person, or relative has been used, or any similarity thereof; the author offers apologies, for an unavoidable accident, which sometimes happens.

The author wishes to acknowledge, with thanks and sincere appreciation, the help that many old residents of the locale have supplied. Much of the material used has been obtained during many years of taking notes. Many of the yarns, stories and hearsay have been combined to make this novel.

A story partly fiction, fancy, fact, hearsay and joshing.

Note: All illustrations are omitted from this newspaper serial. Over 60 illustrations will appear in the published book.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

A Telephone in the Livery Stable.
A Reception at the Twitcher Home.
Jerry Goes to Florida to Purchase Lemon Trees.
Twitcher's Trip to Cuyamaca Mountains with

"Yes, it could be, if the delta is all silt. If there is no rock formation, or barrier there, what would stop the melting away of that delta? I have read somewhere about that Grand Canyon. Let me think. Yes, I remember. That Canyon is almost hundreds of miles long and ten to twelve miles wide at some places; and at the deepest place it is a thousands of feet deep. You can see that many millions and millions of cubic miles of dirt was moved to make that delta. There must have been a roaring river there at some time. There must have been a big flow of dirt laden water. If the coast line is a "falling coast line," that is, if the waters of the Gulf are such that the silt is carried out to sea, then there must always be a flow of silt laden water to compensate for the 'falling' line, otherwise the waves could someday move into the valley. If that great valley was filled with water, it could be possible that the climate was a lot wetter here then. The evaporation of moisture would be something to enhance rainfall somewhere; it would depend on where the clouds were carried to by the winds. If it was eastward, then that would make more waterfall on the river watershed, and so more water to carry more dirt to the delta."

"Yes, that is my supposition. Should that Ocean fill the valley, it would be the last time; because unless the river would flow again with silt to make a delta dam; there would be no barrier to hold back the Ocean water. That flow of silt would have to be sufficient to offset the falling coast line action of the waves. We can only guess at what that amount would be. Maybe the silt was the accumulation of many years of the cutting down of the river channel. Maybe it is at that point where there would not be such a large amount of silt, that could be deposited, to make a barrier," said Mr. Maryweather.

"I see your supposition. I wonder if ever such a thing could happen in our day?" said Twitcher.

"I can't tell you, except that it could be."

"I have heard that men go insane in the heat of the heat of the valley. The mirages there were beyond comprehension. Some men return from there claiming they have seen some sailing ships in the mirage. Some say that the horizon was but a few hundred feet away. The dust storms on that desert were terrific. One man remarked the sand went up in the storm and then it took two weeks to come down to earth again," said Twitcher.

"Will the land ever be of any use to mankind?" asked Merryweather. .....

"Yes, maybe. It has been suggested it will be the vegetable garden for the nation in the Winter time. It is frostless in temperture and therefore can grow tender crops in the Winter months. There is almost no rain at all in the valley. All crops could be grown by irrigation, that is with water from the Colorado River, which is being done in a very limited way, now There is some talk of the Government bringing camels to transport the mail across the desert, according to a newspaper item," said Twitcher.

"That would be a large undertaking to divert water from the river into canals for irrigation," said Merryweather.

"Can we travel into the valley someday?" continued Mr. Merryweather.

"Yes, there is a road made of planks and railroad ties on the sand to travel. It would be almost impossible otherwise."

"I have often wondered how long it would take to fill the whole valley with a body of water as has been done before. This is shown by a high water line on the hills on the west side of this valley, at sea level. Also what affect would that body of water have on the climate from here to the Ocean on the west. Would it cause more rain? There are many such questions which I would like answered. Maybe someday I will find the answer. There are river valleys on the western slope of these mountains, that in times past have flowed large streams of water. Streams which must have been very large, such as we have not seen in our time here. There are several river channels on the west slope which are really big. Take Mission Valley, below the Padres' dam. I mean at the foot of the grade, to the Sea. There is a channel with side walls about one hundred feet high. That valley has carried a huge stream of water at one time. Also consider the four sand filled basins in that river, with a rock barrier on each, on the west side," said Twitcher.

"It could be possible that during the time the desert valley was under water, that the climate was different. If there was a big flow of water, that water came from somewhere. Maybe these mountains were not here at one time., and maybe the Colorado River flowed west."

"That could be because the rocks at the Mountain Springs location have the appearance of being under water at some time. They are water-washed rocks, rounded by water washing. Then there are hills and hills, miles and miles of them, mostly small cobble stones, [illegible] by water action. Like in a river bottom," allowed Twitcher.

"Well, we hypothesized a case about the Salton basin, having been full of water. Does fresh water evaporate faster than salt water? Do you konw?"

"No. I can't answer that one. But if that great basin was full of water it would evaporate in the air, and it became clouds in the heavens above, and then those clouds contacted cool air from the Ocean breezes of the west, that moisture would condense and surely fall on the land somewhere. Would that moist air be blown to the East or to the West? If to the East it would again flow as water in the river from whence it came. As for the delta, of which we spoke a few minutes ago. That must have been a great big hole, or place, to take all the dirt which came down the river."

Having traveled a few hours the men came to the pine forests around the mountain, on the west side of the lake. Ia Laguna se seco.

"What does that mean?" asked Mr. Merryweather.

"It means lake that dries up, and so it used to, in the late summer. That was before the rock and dirt little dam was built. There, my friend, is the old stone wall mine, from which several million dollars of gold has been taken. Gold, that long sought-for commodity of this present civilization, but the finding and mining of gold has brought misery and suffering to many and wealth to few. Gold mining develops a region usually for a short period of time. Agriculture is the real foundation of land settlement. This country here is excellent for cattle grazing, but some other form of farming will some day develop here, because definitely, cities will grow on the south Pacific Coast which will demand farm produce of many kinds."

"Yes, I know," answered Mr. Merryweather, "but it takes all kinds of gainful pursuits to make civilization work. At the present time we have gold backing for the currency of ths country, so we have gold mining also. It does provide a living for some people. Why is the mine not operating?" ask Mr. Merryweather.

"The owners elected to stop work. I heard that it was worked out. The ore was in three deposits, called lens. The first near the surface, the next a few hundred feet below the surface, and the last and third, six hundred feet below the surface. It being the smallest, each becoming smaller than the first. The prospect of profitable mining at that depth being questionable, the owners being interested in many silver mines, elected to stop operations here during the financial crisis following the silver demonitization of a few years ago. A commonly known reason is also that the vein of ore pinched out. That is, it became very thin, and as the case with many veins here. So the natives say it just 'pinched-out.' Maybe there are other such deposits about."

"There is a town farther on, a real mining town, but somehow I have a feeling that mining will not be the sustaining factor of that place. I feel that some agricultural pursuit will come to the rescue. Maybe some decidious fruit that requires this elevation and freezing winter climate. Maybe apples and pears," remarked Twitcher.

"These pines, fir, and cedar trees should make some lumber," remarked Mr. Merryweather.

"Yes, there are a few saw mills on the other side of the mountain. Some of the lumber is hauled to the city, besides being used locally for timbers in other mines and in building constructon locally.

"At one saw mill, the owner constructed his home, made of native stone, and other material readily obtainable here. The fire place was huge. It was across one side of the house. Legend has brought down to us that tale that a mule was used to haul in the huge logs which were used as fuel. Two doors located at each side of the house were for the route of travel of that respected beast of burden. Those logs must have burned for days. How comfortable it must have been during the cold blizzards of winter time, to repose near that mammoth fireplace, when the wind whistled through the pines on the hills, growing to make lumber and fuel for days to come, and above all, to adorn these mountains with nature's grandest sight—trees.

"There, that basin could be the site of a large lake, by the construction of a larger dam at that point," pointed out Twitcher. "However, that is only to think about at this time. It is sufficiently large enough for the time being. The elevation here is forty-six hundred feet above sea level. Twelve square miles drain to this lake. Now that you have seen the source of the water, what do you think about it?" asked Twitcher.

"I am for obtaining possession as soon as possible," agreed Merryweather.

Then walking about a half mile, Twitcher pointed out, "There is the Padres' Trail. A true mountain trail, not for horses, but for men only. The trail where Indians converts carried, in relays, the timber used in the construction of the old Catholic Mission in the Valley north of New Town. You should visit some day. It is now in ruins, but nevertheless, it is mute evidence of a grand undertaking of the last Century, sadly ending in ruins about 1850."

Trees, trees, pine and fir, and cedar. Forests of trees. if only they were nearer the coast. Here was the headwaters of the Mountain Water Co.

Twitcher being a visitor here many times, was well informed about the country. A dam should be constructed to impound more water from the melting snow of the winter storms. Here the snow land of this country. So much it reminded him of old New England, four thousand feet in elevation; grandeur beyond comparison and different beyond words to describe. Then the land of oranges and tropical fruit of New Town, such a short distance away.

The return trip was along the same roads, except many points along the flume were visited, especially the leaks, which were "springs" for certain farmers. Truly, it was a a big undertaking to purchase a run down water works, and repair it at a great expense.

When the men arrived in New Town a friendship there was, which lasted for many years.

To the mutual benefit of all concerned, except certain farmers, whose water springs dried up after the flume was repaired.

Twitcher had dreamed of the day when he would be instrumental in the construction of great dams on the rivers, assistance in a big way, now he had it. Water, that all imto create water resources for the land. He needed financial portant element, now could be sayed for the time of brass skies and parched, dry land, which he hoped would not return. Quietly he worked for water storage in lakes created by concrete dams.

2nd ANNUAL PRESENTATION

SERAFINA

THE PLAY BY JEROME GERARD; MUSIC BY RENAN PREVOST

with additional numbers by
H. Adair Thomas

LOVE - INTRIGUE - COMEDY

A first rate tourist attraction must be original, entertaining, enjoyable and it must be seen only in one place Tourists travel the world over to see unusual attractions. "Serafina" and "Stars in the West" can be annual attractions for San Diego. There has never been anything offered in San Diego, to compare with the possibilties of these Historical Operettas, excepting, the two great Expositions -1915 and 1935, in our wonderful Balboa Park.

Why we offer these Operettas - The presentation of stage shows and etc., which have been produced for years, elsewhere, does not create prime tourist attractions of merit, for San Diego. Because as a rule tourists do not travel far to see stage shows; which can be seen at home or nearby.

Or to hear music which is regularly used on the radio or on records for home playing. All of which; although, said shows and music are acceptable for amusement; but, they are in reality "common stuff" and seldom attract the well informed and enlightened tourist, seeking the unusual.

.A tourist attaction of supreme merit is the Historical Operetta. And produced annually in a Civic Theatre located admist the fine buildings of Balboa Park, which is world famous and the center of culture of San Diego. We have the Russ Auditorium which will suffice until a Civic Theatre can be provided, We have the talent and the most enjoyable operetta — "SERAFINA"

These Operettas are new, with appeal unlike the over-played stage presentations of the past years.

So,- We offer these original Operettas, they can be tourist attractions unsurpassed; because they have not been produced elsewhere, most of the music has not been published, or offered for public use. Here are two historical Operettas, in all that it implies, about our San Diego.

The historical facts presented in the Operettas are such as has never heretofore been presented.

MISSION SAN LUIS REY

East of Oceanside, this mission was founded in 1798 and is called the most beautiful of the early California missions.

The U.S. Naval Hospital in Balboa Park is one of the largest, most beautifully located, and best equipped naval hospitals in America.

PALOMAR OBSERVATORY

Palomar Observatory, one of the greatest scientific achievements in modern history, is located in San Diego's nearby back country. It is the home of the world's largest camera, which instrument will permit the moon to be photographed as if it were but 28 miles distant.

Ideal climatic conditions are essential to the successful operation of this observatory. After years of searching for a location offering clear atmosphereic conditions throughout the year, officials selected Palomar Mountain.

On the site also will be found two other observatories, one is a reflecting telescope situated atop Palomar Mountain 68 miles northeast of San Diego via Escondido and U. S. Highway 395. Turning east at Escondido, the road signs are clearly marked.

$8-Million Bond Issue Is Unnecessary

Above—The Palm Room which can accommodate 1000 persons at banquets has just been completed at a cost of $400,000, relieving the taxpayers of the necessity of a multi-million dollar bond issue for a civic auditorium.

Hotel Aids Tourism Program

The largest addition to the U. S. Grant Hotel since the historic San Dieog structure was dedicated in 1910 was completed this month with final work on the new Palm Room.

The $400,000 project required four months and createda banquet and ball room capable of serving 1,000 people. Ocerall dimensions are 100 by 100 feet, said Carlton S. Lichty, general manager of the hotel.

The second floor structure replaces the old Palm Court. Meeting rooms of various sizes adjoin the big room and a complete kitchen, 25x100 feet serves the new area. It is completely soundproofed.

The room itself includes a big stage. Color lighting effects are obtained by cold cathode indirect lighting in the primary colors. The center area of the unobstructed floor may be cleared of carpeting in a few minutes to accommodate dancers.

Lichty said that the "big room" was built by the hotel in order to assist San Diego's drive to obtain addition convention business.

MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS

Some of the most important links in the chain of national defense are located in San Diego. The nation's largest Naval Air Station, the world's finest Naval Training Station, the Coast uard Base and the Marine Corps Recruit Depot for all activities west of the Mississippi are just a few of the mighty military inllations here. Visitors are invited to attend heviews and parades. See Calendar of Events.

Navy Relief Needed Here, For Sure!

Glad to have you aboard?- The time-honored Marine Corps situation doesn't seem to be shared by this Marine-turned-cowboy and his mount, a very determined Brahma bull. This scene, from last year's Navy Relief Rodeo Carnival, will be enacted many times over June 9 and 10 at Camp Pendleton when amateur cowboys, Marines and sailors the other 363 days of the year, pit their skill against some of the West's orneriest stock. The two-day rodeo, free to the public, is an annual event conducted in conjunction with a carnival to raise money for the Camp Pendleton auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society.
